A Chance to Right the Abortion Curse
by Richard T. Ritenbaugh (Charlotte, North Carolina)

On May 2, 2022, the American political scene erupted into an inferno of controversy with the unprecedented leak of Supreme Court Justice Samuel Alito’s draft opinion on Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization. If enacted as written, the ruling would strike down the landmark 1973 Roe v. Wade decision that legalized abortion throughout the United States and set aside the 1992 Planned Parenthood v. Casey decision. Most observers believe the draft was leaked to Politico to pressure a Supreme Court justice to change his or her vote on Dobbs and “save” abortion rights.

At this time, an investigation ordered by Chief Justice John Roberts has yet to determine the source of the leak. If a leaker is identified, he or she will face stiff legal and professional penalties for perpetrating such an “egregious breach of trust.”

Alito’s opinion, written in February, is an early draft of the Court’s majority opinion on the Dobbs case, which would overturn Roe. The Court’s process calls for analyzing, debating, and editing multiple draft opinions before a final, official opinion is signed and released by the Court. The draft opinion, then, may not represent the final word of the Court majority. Until the Court releases its official document, Roe v. Wade is still the law of the land.

The pro-abortion side of the political spectrum erupted in protest as soon as the leaked document became public. The Supreme Court building itself had to be protected immediately with barricades and later a more substantial fence from protesters who began to converge on it. Since then, protests and counter-protests have occurred across the nation. Some protesters took their agitation directly to the Court’s conservative justices, lining the streets in front of their homes, a clear violation of federal law.

Some left-wing groups promise a nationwide “summer of rage” against the ruling. One pro-abortion leader, Rachel O’Leary Carmona, executive director of the Women’s March on the National Mall, told activists at the Bans Off Our Bodies Rally on May 14, “We will be ungovernable until this government starts working for us.” Several members of the House of Representatives and delegates from progressive religious groups appeared at the rally to show their support for abortion rights and the coming surge of pro-Roe protests.

Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D) of New York rushed to codify abortion rights into law. However, the Women’s Health Protection Act failed in the Senate on May 11, 49-51, with West Virginia Senator Joe Manchin (D) siding with Republicans against the bill. The act, sponsored by Connecticut Senator Richard Blumenthal (D), would have made access to abortion a matter of federal law and guaranteed the right of health care providers to perform abortion services. Republicans argued that the act assailed the Constitutional rights of free exercise of religion and conscience and “would overturn modest and overwhelmingly popular safeguards like waiting periods, informed consent laws, and possibly even parental notification,” according to Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell (R) of Kentucky.

While a majority (about two-thirds) of Americans tell pollsters they support a woman’s right to choose, legal experts on both sides of the spectrum admit that Roe is a poorly reasoned decision. Even the late Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, an icon of the left and a strong supporter of abortion rights, felt Roe was “too sweeping and vulnerable to attacks.” She believed it would have been better if the 1973 opinion, written by Justice Harry Blackmun, had been based on the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment rather than its Due Process Clause. As it stands, she said, the ruling is “unstable.”

Noted Yale law professor Akhil Amar, a self-described pro-choice liberal, concludes in a recent Wall Street Journal article:

I am a Democrat who supports abortion rights but opposes Roe. The Court’s ruling in the case was simply not grounded either in what the Constitution says or in the long-standing, widely embraced mores and practices of the country. Perhaps I’m wrong in thinking that, and perhaps the Dobbs draft is wrong too. But there is nothing radical, illegitimate, or improperly political in what Justice Alito has written.

A recent Rasmussen poll reveals just how clueless the American people are on this issue. More than three-quarters of respondents (77%) believe that overturning Roe would make abortion illegal. It will not. According to the Tenth Amendment, all it will do is return abortion law to individual states. The people’s local representatives would be able to vote on the issue, which is what most people (65%) want, according to Rasmussen. The Alito draft opinion, vilified by a politicized media with dire warnings about the Court taking away precious rights, would give Americans what two-thirds of them say they want.

As God says through Hosea, “My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge” (Hosea 4:6; see Isaiah 5:13). The simple truth is that, on the abortion issue, Americans are allowing themselves to be led by political hucksters across the spectrum rather than doing the hard work of thinking the matter through. Instead of championing the lives of society’s weakest members, they believe without question the venal personal-freedom arguments that they see on television and the Internet. They fail to consider the effects of murder in the womb on the mother, child, and society at large. When heightened emotions enter the mix—as they almost always do—serious thought about what is true and right disappears.

On the other hand, Almighty God desires His people to understand His thoughts about the issues that confront them. He provides specific laws, well-defined principles, and logical arguments for what is good and against evil. His Word is clear that our Creator and Life-Giver is for life and family and against murder and sexual activity outside of marriage.

It was not long ago that most Americans understood these things. Events have given the nation a chance to rectify the monstrous, half-century abortion curse. It is time to remember God’s thoughts on the matter—or real destruction will soon fall on a once-Bible-believing people.

Featherwing beetles might be the smallest beetles measuring in at mostly under one millimeter, but their size doesn't stop them from being speedy fliers. These tiny beetles have been found to fly just as fast as other beetles three times their size. Learning more about their flight reminds us that our Creator designed purpose in the tiny details.

Entomologists have been studying the flight patterns and behaviors of these amazing beetles to learn how they seem to defy Newton's laws. Unlike the wings of other insects, made of membranous material, the featherwing beetles have bristly feather-like wings (hence the name).

According to the study, entomologists created a model using high-speed videography and measurements to learn more about the bristled wings. The captured video is fascinating. These tiny wings have strong friction to fight against, with such a small body, while using two power strokes and two recovery strokes during flight. The wings appear to clap in front of and behind its body. They found that the bristled wings reduce the wing mass when compared to membranous wings. The wings work similarly to a bird feather by not allowing a lot of air escape through them.

The elytra are the front wings of beetles but primarily serve as protective wing cases for the hindwings. In featherwing beetles, they are also used during flight – acting as brakes and stabilizers. This opening and closing movement of the elytra is unique to the flying style of certain beetles, like the featherwing.

Another distinction in the flight behaviors of featherwing beetles is the way their wings move. The beetle's wings make a figure eight pattern in a way that decreases drag and allows the beetle to powerfully propel itself. They share this amazing wing pattern with the tiny hummingbird.

The evolutionary entomologists conducting these studies report that for over 300 million years, these beetles have evolved smaller bodies while maintaining the ability to fly. However, these insects retain their God-given ability to adapt

The above title may seem strange. But it basically refers to an historical study that I have come across in my research of so many topics. Using written records, and a lot of research on the net. With such as Wikipedia. As I cover each letter above in the title, keep in mind whether you find anything in the seven letters, that even closely relates to the promises made to the tribes of Israel, regarding their "future second homes", after their being removed from their first homes. History covers their "migrations" quite well.

1) "E". This refers to the tribe of Esau, but specifically to the tribe of "E"dom. Which is the name of those descended from Esau, via his marriage to his two Canaanite wives. And as we know, Edom and his younger brother Jacob did not get along all that well. This being as a result of Jacob receiving the birthright from him, by giving him a meal. As well, their mother Rebekah, who sealed the hatred of her son Esau against her son Jacob. Basically, forcing Jacob into a state of slavery for some twenty or so years.

2) "E.I.". Here we actually begin the story. For it begins in the mid 200's BC. At the beginning, the Judean Israelites living in their homeland, were at the mercy of both Syria and Egypt. Each having been given their inheritance, as generals of Alexander the Great's army. But it was at this period of time, that an army from "Parthia" invaded the land. Parthia referring to the parts (10%) of the tribes of Israel, that had been taken captive by Assyria, and settled in the lands that would later become the Persian Empire. With Persia's defeat by Greece, they began to be the rulers.

As the story goes, Parthia invaded Syria, and killed their ruler. They were moving on to do the same to Egypt, when they met up with their "brothers". They made one of them, a Maccabean (sp) king of Judea, and then moved on to Egypt, where they were defeated.

One of the first things this new Maccabean king did, was to form an army, and invade a peoples that were living in their land. Just east of the Salt Sea. These peoples were called "Idumean's". Or Edomites.

3) "E.I.H". The Idumeans became full-fledged "Jews", by being forced, by the new king, to observe the book of the law of Moses, and also by having to have all of their males "circumcised".

This went on until the time when the Roman armies took over control of Judea. One of the first things they did, was to make one of the Idumean's "king". His name was "Herod". His story is quite well covered in historical writings. He was in power for some 40 years, dying in 4 BC.

Then came the time when the Israelite Jews rebelled against Rome, and were defeated by Rome's armies in 70 AD. Please take note that, at their defeat, all Israelite Jews were expelled from Rome's borders! Most of them, of course, went east, and joined their brothers in the former Babylon, from whence they had come "back home" in the late 500's BC.

But the "Herodians" did not have to leave. For, during the war they supported Rome, and in several ways, gave the real Israelite Jews up. They continued to live in the land, especially in Egypt. But finally, Rome began to pass laws that were contrary to Moses' laws. One of those being the forbidding of the circumcision of baby boys. The "E.I.H" Jews rebelled, and were defeated in the early 200's. At this time, they too, just as the real Israelite Jews, were expelled from Rome's borders.

However, they really had nowhere to go. To the east were Israelites. To the west there were Israelites. These latter being those of the Carthaginian empire. Or, the tribe of Ephraim, half tribe of Manasseh, Simeon, and some of the other northern tribes.

The "E.I.H." Jews had no choice but to settle, for a century or so, in a neutral area. This being the former site of the seven Gentile churches. Here they became known of as Ashkenazi's. A name some even today refer to themselves as being. Ashkenaz was a son of Japheth. And, when the three races left Shinar, Japheth's children settled in Greece (Javan) and today's Turkey. With Ashkenaz being in the above-mentioned area.

4) "E.I.H.A." Another level of Edom's descendancy. But, as mentioned, it was only a century or so that they lived in Ashkenaz's first settlement. For it was at this time that bad weather and a lot of "Arabic" incursions, caused the True Israelites to have to begin their migrations to their promised "second homes". Though it would take them some 700 years to arrive there. They basically all settled in northeast Europe until nearly 1100 AD, when William the Conqueror came on the scene.

5) "E.I.H.A.K.". Note the "K". This is for Khazar's. The name given the "E.I.H." gentile Jews, at the time they arrived in the "Steppes of Russia". For some centuries these Khazars prospered. Being on the site of the trade routes from the east to the west.

But note here, which I could have pointed out earlier. These "E.I.H.A.K." Jews were not accepted by any of the Israelite tribes that migrated out of the middle east. Just as they were not accepted by the True Israelites when they had to migrate out of Rome's borders. EVEN THOUGH the Israelite Jews of 70 AD were accepted by the other True Israelites.

6) "E.I.H.A.K.R." Then came the invasion by the eastern hordes. The gentile Jews once again had to migrate. And, as the story is well known today, they settled mostly in eastern Europe, but also in central and western Europe.

They lived in these areas until the time of Otto Von Bismarck. For, until Otto came along, the nation of Germany was basically a 100 or so private "states" country. In order for Bismarck to unite them, he used the "Jews" as his main weapon. Or, IOW's, he used the "Sabbath observers" to help unite the Germans.

I will come back to this time of the last half of the 1800's. But first, take note that, after WW2, some of the Jews that lived through the concentration camps, migrated to Judea. There becoming the "E.I.H.A.K.R.I." Jews. Which Jews, Scripture shows, will in the future, be attacked by, and destroyed by, the union of the northern Christian nations, and the southern Islam nations. (See: Lk. 21:20) The story of this coming about is very interesting.

But now, back to the 1800's. When the "Jews" were forced out of Germany, most of the "E.I.H.A.K.R." Jews migrated. Some went back into the steppes of Russia for a couple of decades, (see: Fiddler on the Roof"), many remained in east and west Europe. At the same time, many migrated to other nations. Especially to the US.

An individual named Stephen Birmingham, wrote a book about these "E.I.H.A.K.R." Jews that migrated to the US. The title of the book is "The Rest of Us". He wrote it at their request. For, he had already written two books regarding the first migration of the Gentile Jews that settled in the US. The first book is "Our Crowd". Which describes some "Sephardid" (sp) Jews, brothers of the other gentile Jews, that first came in the late 1600's. They came from Brazil. They were not wanted, but they had something that the Pilgrims did not have. Money!

For, these Sephardid Jews were basically "bankers". And this allowed them to remain. When you think money, think the "Philadelphia Bankers". They went so far as to support Washington in his war against the English and have remained basically wealthy since.

Now back to the late 1800's. In his book "The Rest of Us", Birmingham presents "two Jewish migrations". Between the 1850's-70's, some 600,000 "German Jews" came to America. They were Sabbath observers, but to avoid persecution, they changed to the first day of the week. If I recall, they became Episcopalians.

Then, from the 1880's to the first world war, some 6,000,000 "E.I.H.A.K.R." Jews came to the US. The earlier Sephardic Jews, the wealthy, tried to help them, but the later gentile Jews were quite rowdy. Many becoming criminals and involved in a lot of the "gang warfare". Though more were in the more general businesses. Manufacturing, etc.

Consider how the descriptions that Birmingham gives these two groups of "Jews" that migrated out of Germany

The “New” Church of God Messenger
A Newsletter for the People of God

to the US. He describes the German Jews as being "taller, slimmer, with lighter skin, hair, and eyes". While the later arriving "E.I.H.A.K.R." Jews as being "shorter, stockier, with darker skin, hair, and eyes".

This has been long enough. The reader can believe as they will. But I will close by again mentioning one main point. Nowhere do you find that the God of the True tribes of Israel, ever treated the "E.I.H.A.K.R.I." Jews, the way he treated "his people". They were never treated like "his people". And never will be. (see again: Lk. 21:20 and think "kings of north and south".)

The “Diversity Doctrine” is:
Racist, Sexist, Perverse and Insane
by Richard Frates (Easley, South Carolina)

The diversity doctrine is: honor and respect is to be lavished on the diverse for the sake of diversity. Questions for diversity professors. Who are the diverse ones? Is being non-diverse a problem? Should everyone be diverse? If we all were diverse, would that be, good or bad, for our nation? Should we prefer that our children fit into a diversity designation? Why is diversity being promoted and honored by educators and our ruling elites today? How diverse does one need to be, to become a diversity professor, and be hired by the university, know it all and more, experts?

The promoters of the insane - Diversity Doctrine – or the need for diversity experts to - give honor and preference to people dependent on race, religion, gender, and perversions of many kinds is strange. The more diverse and abnormal, the more deserving, preferred and honored; by our miss-educated, confused, and insane experts in diversity.

Diversity professors need to find victims to properly distinguish who is deserving of special honor, protection, and preference, because of their - diversity - and who is not, because of their lack of diversity. They also need victimizers, and non-believers in special protections for their diverse ones.

The definition of diversity is: “The state of being varied: A wide diversity of opinions”. But diversity professors toss that definition in the trash and insist that all have – their diversity opinions; regarding male, female, race, sex, religion, discrimination and good and evil.

Individual Rights: is the shrine of their devotion and Altar for sacrifice, to the extreme; so, that – individual wrongs - to diversity professors – have become individual rights. A twisting of hearts, minds and conscience is their devoted work. Jeremiah 7:28 describes them “Truth has perished; it has vanished from their lips.”

Diversity professors are racist: They teach that blacks and those they call “persons of color” are automatically a diversity plus, deserving of preference; and if you are white, that is a diversity minus, not preferred. Here we have diverse individuals yet one is treated with disrespect and the others with respect because of skin color.

Racist terms, that are acceptable or ignored by diversity professors: Person of color, everyone fits into that designation except white people. Diversity experts do not know that white is also a color; to them white people are persons of non-color. Most blacks today, are racist and proud of it; and the NAACP is a black-KKK; they, enthusiastically, justify or condemn people because of skin color. Not black enough and Uncle Tom are racist statements; that racist blacks use, against other blacks who do not hate white people; or do not feel that they are victims of white people.

Male and Female: God created us male and female, but diversity professors have a problem with that fact. They adopt the - insane attitude – to accommodate their diverse ones and encourage them in their madness; that male and female are a matter of choice. And, if you do not agree with them, they ridicule and accuse you of discriminating. The truth is: If you do not discriminate, your minds are being controlled.

The “New” Church of God Messenger
A Newsletter for the People of God
August 6, 2022 --- Issue No. 79

Diversity professors are “homophobic”: Homophobia really is: the fear of offending homosexuals and those who praise them, by not accepting homosexuality as normal or good. Two men have sex and then shout it from the house-top demanding respect. Then, the nutty professors shower them with praise and approval because of “diversity”; that is insane.

Those in authority should call on homosexuals to repent or at least keep their preferred sexual practices private; that would display a hint of repentance. If they have something good, why not keep it to themselves? Answer: They are the Devils’ evangelist; shouting out his message of hate against Godly morality. Less than 2% of mankind fall into practicing LGBT individuals; yet diversity experts will not call their behavior abnormal; a deviation from what is good for society, because they are the Devils’ apostles of “diversity”.

Diversity professor’s approval of the sexual union of two men or two women is: a type of professional insanity. Ask them if they would approve of incest and bestiality; they would say no; and that means they do discriminate. Though they pride themselves for not discriminating, which means that, they have willingly blinded themselves to truth. Today’s non-discriminating swallow whole what is vile, perverse, and false, by praising and defending what God calls evil. And, these non-discriminating professors, DISCRIMINATE, against those who believe God.

The agenda of most diversity professors is Americans must close the, eyes of their hearts and minds to good and evil; and accept the diversity professor definition of good and evil, instead. Those who are deserving of condemnation by diversity professors are: Christians who believe God, white men who do NOT, accept that, the color of their skin means they are racist. Social conservatives white or black and those who believe that homosexuality is a sin against God.

A professor of English at Providence College has come under fire for his essays about his campus's diversity debates, which he says doesn't focus enough on societal unity or religious doctrine. The Roman Catholic college has distanced itself from the professor's comments -- that inclusion efforts promote an “alphabet soup of cheered-on sexual proclivities.” Cheered on sexual deviancies, to be more precise. The college president said that this professor did not speak for him and that he understands the value of diversity. That is ridiculous; what is taught as “diversity” today is: valueless, deception, depravity and debasing of truth.

Do universities really need, diversity professors? Colleges would be better off, if they hired, social normalize professors, that would NOT shower, praise, honor, and encouragement, on the abnormal, for the sake of “diversity”. But that would set on the march, the Devil and his dancing – LGBT - marching band; they would be screaming for attention and respect. Psalm 12:8 “The wicked freely strut about when what is vile is honored among men.”

The Devil is mocking God’s creation of male and female, husbands and wives, sons and daughters while our ruling elites rejoice and praise his children. America’s national and religious leaders should call for repentance; or, sooner or later, God will bring disaster on our nation. The Son of God has been crucified, that all who repent, may be cleansed from sin by his blood and receive salvation from death.

Why the Church must Avoid Forging Political Alliances in the Days Ahead

(Copyright) by Eddie Hyatt (Grapevine, Texas)

As followers of Christ, we must openly support those political candidates whose values and policies reflect our own. However, history shows that when the Church forges cozy ties and alliances with civil authorities or a political party, she loses her purity and the ability to be a bold, prophetic voice to the nation and those in power. Jesus, by His example, showed us the way in this regard.

A Kingdom Not of This World

There were many political and religious parties in first century Israel, but Jesus forged no ties with any of them. How could he? His heavenly mission was not of this world. The kingdom He preached transcended all their petty and partisan politics.

The “New” Church of God Messenger
A Newsletter for the People of God
August 6, 2022 --- Issue No. 79

When arrested and interrogated by the Roman governor, Pontius Pilate, Jesus made it clear that he had no interest in Caesar’s crown or Herod’s throne. Those kingdoms were of a lower, inferior realm. His kingdom transcended them all. When Pilate asked him about being called “the king of the Jews,” Jesus replied,

My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here (John 18:36).

We too must guard against becoming identified with a political party and its machinery. We must remember that Jesus did not entrust us with a political plan or strategy for overthrowing Caesar or winning the next election. His kingdom begins in the heart and works its way outward from there.

He, therefore, entrusted us with a Message that has the inherent power to change hearts and thereby change families, communities, and nations. I am not ashamed of the gospel, Paul said, for it is the power of God unto salvation . . . (Romans 1:16).

We must, therefore, be faithful to the Message the Lord has entrusted to us. We must guard against modifying the Message to accommodate cultural and faddish trends, for a compromised message becomes a message without power. Paul warned of this in I Corinthians 1:17 where he said,

For Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the Gospel—not with wisdom and eloquence, lest the cross of Christ be emptied of its power (NIV).

The Distraction of Worldly Power

The vision of political and worldly power for the Church is a distraction, not a calling. The Church has experienced political power in history, and it was a disaster. With the conversion of the Roman Emperor Constantine in 312 and the merger of the Church with the Empire, the Church enjoyed imperial wealth and power.

Constantine took money from the Roman treasury and built magnificent cathedrals for the Christians. He also began paying the salaries of the bishops and pastors and putting the power of the state at their disposal to enforce doctrines and practices. However, many of her leaders proved to be as cruel and oppressive as any Muslim ayatollah or pagan emperor. We are still experiencing the negative ramifications of that period of worldly power in the Church (Hyatt, To Comply or Not Comply, 55).

In such an arrangement the Church becomes beholden to the political authority and her prophetic voice is muffled or completely silenced. Dependent on the state for her existence, the Church becomes feckless and spiritually dead. A. J. Gordon, Baptist pastor and founder of Gordon College in Boston, wrote,

It is not altogether strange that when the Church forgot her citizenship in heaven and began to establish herself in luxury and splendor on earth, she should cease to exhibit the supernatural gifts of heaven (Hyatt, 2000 Years of Charismatic Christianity, 53).

When Hitler arose to power in Germany, he expressed confidence that the state Lutheran Church would not oppose him because the pastors received their salaries and other benefits from the state. Except for a few brave voices like Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Albert Niemoller, Hitler was right. The silence of a politicized German Church allowed him to carry out his evil schemes (Hyatt, To Comply or Not Comply, 32-36).

America’s Founders Wanted a Free Church with No Political Ties

This is why the Puritans in early America would not allow ministers of the Gospel to hold political office. It was not to keep their influence out of politics; it was to keep the ministry pure and the ministers free to speak prophetically to the civil authorities.

This is the reason that America’s founders, whose thinking was influenced by Puritan thought, instituted the First Amendment that reads, “Congress shall make no law concerning the establishment of religion or hindering the free exercise thereof.” This was not to keep the Church out of politics, but to keep politics out of the Church.

They wanted a Church in America with a clear prophetic voice that would speak truth to power. This was made clear by

The “New” Church of God Messenger
A Newsletter for the People of God
August 6, 2022 --- Issue No. 79

James Madison, the chief architect of the Constitution, who wrote,

We are teaching the world a great truth, that governments do better without kings and nobles than with them. The merit is doubled by the other lesson: that Religion flourishes in greater purity without, than with the aid of government (Hyatt, Pilgrims and Patriots, 148).

Indeed, if we are to be a prophetic voice to the nation, we cannot forge cozy ties and make ourselves beholden to any political party. Like the Old Testament prophets, and Jesus Himself, we must be free to speak the mind and heart of God to all those in positions of influence and power.

Whose Side Are We On?

Jesus did not align with any political or religious party because He had not come to take sides, but to take over. It, therefore, has never been a question of whose side He is on, but a question of who is on His side? That is why the basic confession of early Christianity was not “Jesus is Savior” or “Jesus is Healer,” but “Jesus is Lord!”

President Abraham Lincoln understood this. During the Civil War, when a northern minister expressed his hope that, “the Lord is on our side,” Lincoln replied,

I am not at all concerned about that . . . but it is my constant anxiety and prayer that I and this nation should be on the Lord’s side (Hyatt, The Great Prayer Awakening of 1857-58, 39).

It is the same today. Our commission is not to assure any politician or political party that God is on their side, but to be a prophetic voice, declaring the Lordship of Jesus, and continually challenging those of every political persuasion with the question, “Are you on the Lord’s side?”

The Coming American Humanitarian Crisis

(Copyright) by Richard Markland (London, Ohio)

Deuteronomy 28:49-50- "The Lord shall bring a nation against you from far, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flies; a nation whose tongue you shall not understand. (50) A nation of fierce countenance, which shall not regard the person of the old, nor show favor to the young: (52) And he shall besiege you in all your gates, until your high and fenced walls (defenses) come down, wherein you trusted, throughout all your land: and he shall besiege you in all your gates throughout all your land, which the Lord your God has given you."

A Look into the Future

The following scenario is a glimpse into the future of what will become a full-blown humanitarian crisis when America's enemies will be used by God to carry out his judgment due to blatant disobedience.

Matthew 24:21-22- "For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. (22) And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved (alive): but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened."

As the coming invasion escalates, the emotional and physical toll inflicted upon every man, woman, and child not under God's protection will be a matter of life and death.

The following report is written as if published in a newspaper or posted on the Internet.

Missing Pages from Journal Found, But Young Author Unknown-The International Tribune

A personal face is left to the imagination by what has been written in a young person's journal found between two rocks on the side of a trail not far from Highway 14, approximately 20 miles east of Vancouver, Washington. Two important pages may have been found, but who wrote the words may never be known.

Day 9

"There are no good days. I don't know what to do, and I am really really scared.

"Last night I heard people screaming and constant gunfire not far from here. This isn't the first time, and I am afraid it is only going to get worse. I'm too scared to look out the window facing the street. The screams don't sound human, but more like what frightened animals sound like when they are trapped and desperate.

"Mom left two days ago and hasn't returned. She told me to keep all of the doors locked, and not to open them for anyone.

"There's no food, water, or electricity. Moms heard there's a place not far from here where there's supposed to be food and water. She should have returned by now. I know something is wrong because she promised she would not be long.

"I told her I didn't want to stay here by myself, but she said it would be far safer due to so much uncertainty. I was told that if anyone tries to break in, I must hide in the basement behind a number of boxes where a gun is stored.

"I hate the nights. It's too dangerous to light candles, even with blankets draped over the window curtains.

"I'm really hungry and thirsty because I haven't had anything to eat or drink for three days. The power grid is crippled, including cell phone towers.

"One thing is certain. The young person who wrote this did leave. What is not known is if the author and mother traveled together. What lies ahead is just as troubling as the emotions expressed, and an open testimony of what Americans are facing.

Why the Coming American Humanitarian Crisis?

Deuteronomy 28:15- "But it shall come to pass, if you will not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, to observe to do all his commandments and his statutes which I command you this day; that all the curses -(listed-in the chapter as well as in Leviticus 26) shall come upon you, and overtake you."

Obedience To God Would Prevent the Coming Catastrophe

Deuteronomy 28:1-2- "And it shall come to pass if you shall hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord your God, to observe and to do all his commandments which I command you this day, that the Lord your God will set you high above all nations of the earth: (2) And all these blessings (listed in verses 3 to 14) shall come on you, and overtake you, if you shall hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God."

Deuteronomy 30:19- "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore, choose life, that you and your seed may live."

The Return and its Prophetic Impact

(Copyright) by Jeffrey Caldwell (Arkansas) and Laura Lee (Bismarck, North Dakota)

Laura writes:

I want to share a conversation I had this past week with Jeffrey Caldwell. And I have listened to the 33-minute video.

Jeffrey writes:

There is a movement afoot which you and the entire ministry of the Church of God should be aware of; if you have not seen this already I strongly urge you to take a look: The Return and its Prophetic Impact

Laura writes:

What is the movement about? Is it good or bad?

Jeffrey writes:

A large number of people have been meeting and praying for a revival. The talk will explain what happened, which certainly seems providential.

The important thing to consider here is the apparent movement of Providence -- God's involvement in our ongoing history.

The speaker has specialized in such analysis, and the talk is about the movement of Providence during and since The Return rally in Washington, D.C. about two years ago. While they were praying, Trump was nominating the new Supreme Court justice who made the difference in overturning Roe v. Wade; etc. He specializes in pinpointing what seem to be notable "coincidences".

He finds many parallels between the unfolding history of the United States and that of Israel, and of God operating in history reflecting biblical commandments and judgments.

Our country has not and likely will not return to God. But God Himself continues to work for His own sovereign ends.

Laura writes:

I am with Jeffrey on that last one, it is unlikely the whole United States will all of the sudden worship the true God thus turning this ship around in the right direction.

When I saw this come in, and after asking Jeffrey my questions in order to make sure I understood what he was sending me, at first, I was not sure how to present this. I had to think about it for a while.

On the one hand there is nothing wrong with wanting a revival and praying for a revival. We should pray for this country and the entire world for that matter as we are facing some tough times ahead. So please do pray that somehow the outcome can be changed as in the case of Niniva.

Here is the problem I see with this, and I will only put it out there as a warning. We don't know exactly how close to the end we are, but daily it is getting closer. And I believe it is closer than we think. I know the word America is not in the Bible, it doesn't matter. There are certain countries that house the Israelites and America is one of those countries. Washington D. C. is set up to invoke Satan's presence and the religious body involved will be the Catholic Church.

The problem with becoming involved in the wrong revival could mean the loss of your salvation. There is an end time religious revival coming but it is not meant as worship to the true God. It will happen to deceive people into worshipping Satan. So, I caution everyone to be very careful about getting mixed up in this or any other movement of its kind. Read Revelation Chapter 13 for more details in regard to this end time revival.

Disney – The Most Evil Place on Earth

WARNING NOTE: This 48-minute video is NOT for children to see. It shows how Disney incorporates evil demons, secret signs of Masonic origin and sexual perversions in all their children's movies/shows in an effort to capture the children's minds so they will become acclimated to it and become like them.

There was a lot of work involved for the person who made this video. Eye opening for sure. Some things may seem a little far out, but the whole overview does show what is going on...for many decades!
